

O

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
EASTERN DIVISION

RICHARD J. BLAIR,

Petitioner,

v.

PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA,

Respondent.

Case No. EDCV 11-628-PSG (MLG)

ORDER DENYING CERTIFICATE OF APPEALABILITY

Rule 11 of the Rules Governing Section 2254 Cases in the United States District Courts requires the district court to issue or deny a certificate of appealability ("COA") when it enters a final order adverse to the petitioner. Because jurists of reason would not find it debatable whether this Court was correct in its ruling denying the petition, a COA is denied.

Before a petitioner may appeal the Court's decision denying his petition, a COA must issue. 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(1)(A); Fed. R. App. P. 22(b). The Court must either issue a COA indicating which issues satisfy the required showing or provide reasons why such a certificate should not issue. 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(3); Fed. R. App.P. 22(b).

1 The court determines whether to issue or deny a COA pursuant to
2 standards established in Miller-El v. Cockrell, 537 U.S. 322 (2003);
3 Slack v. McDaniel, 529 U.S. 473 (2000); and 28 U.S.C. § 2253(c). A COA
4 may be issued only where there has been a "substantial showing of the 5 denial of a constitutional right." 28 U.S.C. § 2253 (c)(2); Miller-El,
6 537 U.S. at 330. As part of that analysis, the Court must determine
7 whether "reasonable jurists would find the district court's assessment
8 of the constitutional claims debatable or wrong." Slack, 529 U.S. at 9 484, See also Miller-El, 537 U.S. at 338.

10 In Silva v. Woodford, 279 F.3d 825, 832-33 (9th Cir. 2002), the 11 court noted that this amounts to a "modest standard". (Quoting
12 Lambright v. Stewart, 220 F.3d 1022, 1025 (9th Cir. 2000)). Indeed, 13 the standard for granting a COA has been characterized as "relatively 14 low". Beardlee v. Brown, 393 F.3d 899, 901 (9th Cir. 2004). A COA
15 should issue when the claims presented are "adequate to deserve
16 encouragement to proceed further." Slack, 529 U.S. at 483-84,
17 (quoting Barefoot v. Estelle, 463 U.S. 880, 893 (1983)); see also 18 Silva, 279 F.3d at 833. If reasonable jurists could "debate" whether 19 the petition could be resolved in a different manner, then the COA
20 should issue. Miller-El, 537 U.S. at 330.

21 Under this standard of review, a COA will be denied. In denying 22 the petition for writ of habeas corpus, the Court concluded, for the 23 reasons stated in the Magistrate Judge's Report and Recommendation,
24 that Petitioner was not entitled to habeas corpus relief on his
25 severance claim because he had failed to show that the state court
26 decision was contrary to, or involved an unreasonable application of,
27 clearly established federal law or Supreme Court precedent. Harrington
28 v. Richter, --- U.S. ---, 131 S.Ct. 770, 783-84 (2011). Petitioner

1 cannot make a colorable claim that jurists of reason would find
2 debatable or wrong the decision denying the petition. Thus, Petitioner
3 is not entitled to a COA.

4 Therefore, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2253, the Court DENIES a
5 certificate of appealability.
